Honors & Awards

Congratulations to the following who have received honors!

► Sally Cheston, MD, Assistant Professor, Department of Radiation Oncology, received a special Governor's Citation from Maryland Governor Larry Hogan on May 10. The award was presented to

Dr. Cheston at Central Maryland Radiation Oncology (CMRO) by Robert R. Neall, Secretary of the Maryland Department of Health, in recognition of her long-term and outstanding work in creating and sustaining a joint UM SOM/Johns Hopkins program in radiation oncology at Howard County General Hospital.

► Adam Puche, PhD, Professor, Department of Anatomy & Neurobiology, received the Student Council Award for Best Pre-Clinical Faculty from the University of Maryland School of Medicine Class of 2018, presented at the University of Maryland School of Medicine graduation ceremony at the Hippodrome Theatre on May 17. Dr. Puche also received the 2018 Pass and Susel Medical Education Tool Chest Award from the Pass and Susel Academy of Educational Excellence, presented at the twelfth annual Student Awards Ceremony and Dinner on May 16.

► Shabnam Salimi, MD, MSc, Research Associate, Department of Epidemiology & Public Health, was awarded Best Poster at the national Claude D. Pepper Older Americans Independence Center for his poster: "Soluble Tumor Necrosis Factor Alpha Receptor 1, Bone Resorption and Bone Mineral Density in the Year Following Hip Fractures: The Baltimore Hip Studies." The meeting was held in Arlington, VA in May 2018.

New Faculty

We welcome our new faculty!

► Heather Ames, MD, PhD, joined the Department of Anatomy and Neurobiology as an Assistant Professor in May 2018. Dr. Ames was previously with Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, where she completed her R25 Research Fellowship with the National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke. Dr. Ames expertise is in the evaluation of glioblastoma tumor heterogeneity, particularly as it applies to white matter invasion and unique patterns of differentiation.

► Meredith McHugh, PhD, MSW, joined the Department of Anatomy and Neurobiology as an Assistant Professor in May 2018. Dr. McHugh received her PhD in Psychology from Griffith University, Australia in 2010. Later that year she moved to Baltimore where she completed a postdoctoral fellowship at the National Institute on Drug Abuse, Intramural Research Program (NIDA-IRP). During her time at NIDA-IRP Dr. McHugh identified several neural circuits and large-scale brain networks involved in relapse to drug use following treatment. Dr. McHugh returned to Australia in 2015 to pursue a Masters in Social Work. In her current appointment Dr. McHugh will support and develop an ongoing research program addressing the prevention and management of Opioid Use Disorders.

► Fuwen Zhou, BM, MM, Dr. rer. nat., joined the Department of Anatomy and Neurobiology as an Assistant Professor in May 2018. Dr. Zhou received his Dr. rer.nat. in Cell Biology from the University of Rostock, Germany and was a postdoctoral fellow and research associate at the University of Tennessee. Dr. Zhou studies basal ganglia, cortex and olfactory bulb neural circuits mainly using patch clamp electrophysiological, optogenetic, chemogenetic, immunohistological, and stereotaxic techniques to investigate the neuroelectrophysiology of different neuronal types in different brain regions, and the pathophysiology of these neurons in neurological disorders.
