Figure 9: Method for bleeding a rat from the heart. Apex beat is palpated with the forefinger, and the needle is introduced along the finger through the chest wall and into the heart chamber as shown on left above. Blood is then withdrawn as shown on the right.