Where Discovery Sets Us Apart

The Department of Psychiatry has long been dedicated to excellence in biomedical education, basic and clinical research, quality patient care and services to improve the health of the citizens of Maryland and beyond. Under the leadership of Anthony F. Lehman, M.D., M.S.P.H., the Department continues to be a center of excellence in the education of psychiatrists and providing comprehensive care to patients. We are internationally known for our treatment and research programs serving people with severe mental illnesses.

Our residency training program is nationally recognized for its enduring partnership with the State of Maryland in developing and sustaining a workforce of psychiatrists who serve throughout the State and region. Through strategic collaborations with institutional partners, we now offer one of the largest and most competitive psychiatry training programs in the country. Additionally, our Maryland Psychiatric Research Center operates innovative clinical research programs in schizophrenia that provides treatment otherwise not available to Maryland citizens. The faculty includes recipients of two of the first five NIMH MERIT awards and numerous other national and international honors.

*With your generous support,
we will be able to ensure the growth and stability of this prized resource for future generations of Marylanders.*

PHILANTHROPIC OPPORTUNITIES

Endowed faculty support

Faculty professorships serve as a mark of distinction for generous donors and recognize the brightest minds in academic medicine—the faculty who inspire students, expand the frontiers of knowledge and make discoveries that change lives. A named chair can be established with a minimum gift of $2.5 million. Named professorships can be established with a minimum of $1.5 million in cumulative gifts for each professorship.

Priority areas of focus:

- Endowing a named chair for the chair of the Department of Psychiatry
- Endowed clinical, research, and educational professorships in neuroscience, schizophrenia, mood disorders, child and adolescent disorders, addictions, severe mental illness and education

Research endowments and program support

By providing basic and clinical research support, along with start-up funds and bridge funding for faculty research, the School of Medicine will be better able to attract and support rising stars and seed promising avenues of biomedical and life sciences research. With additional levels of support for efforts in neuroscience, schizophrenia, mood disorders, severe mental illness, and other programs of excellence, the department’s distinguished faculty will be better able to translate discovery into treatment and other applications.

Department of Psychiatry Fund for Discovery

Unrestricted and annual support gives the chair of the department the flexibility to respond quickly to the department’s most urgent needs. Unrestricted gifts to the Department of Psychiatry Fund for Discovery provide crucial support and enable the department to respond new opportunities by supporting medical students, housing staff and junior faculty and providing seed funding for promising new initiatives.

"It’s our commitment to provide the best care possible today, and to continue to learn so that we can provide even better treatments tomorrow."

Anthony F. Lehman, M.D., M.S.P.H.
