Understanding Sections in TerminalFour CMS (T4)

- A Section in T4 holds the content types that make up a web page. You can think of it as a web page.
- Yellow Sections are active and correspond to the left navigation of your website.
- A Section can be a "Parent" and hold other "child" sections or pages.
- A gray section has been taken out of navigation and is not visible on the website.

Website

Office of Development

Offices of the Dean > Office of Development

Development Home

Our Medical Advances ›

How You Can Make an

Overview

How We Are Transforming Medicine

We Are Not Your Traditional Medical School

Our Case for Support

Imagine What We Can Do

Ways to Give

The School of Medicine Gala ›

Support Our Research ›

Our Donors ›

Medical Families

Alumni Resources

TerminalFour CMS

Show site structure

Site Structure

Path : University of Maryland Baltimore » SOM » Home » Offices of the D

Office of Development   Homepage Section

Development Home   Link Section (For Left Navigation)

Our Medical Advances   Parent Section (Page)

Overview   Link Section (For Left Navigation)

How We Are Transforming Medicine   Section (Page)

We Are Not Your Traditional Medical School   Section (Page)

Our Case for Support   Section (Page)

Imagine What We Can Do   Section (Page)

sidebar   Sidebar Section (Not in Navigation)

Ways to Give

The School of Medicine Gala

Support Our Research

Our Donors

Medical Families

Alumni Resources

Board Of Visitors

Contact Us

Publications

- A Link Section is a special section that contains no content, but links to another Section. It is used to improve navigation.